

Under-Utilized Space Memorandum As of April 28, 2022

It is the New York City Department of Education's (NYCDOE) mission to ensure that students and families in every community have access to high-quality educational options. Limited space availability, coupled with the changing needs of NYC's students, requires that the NYCDOE use existing public school buildings in the most efficient manner possible. Therefore, the NYCDOE looks to use under-utilized space in existing buildings to meet these needs, including but not limited to:

- The addition of new educational programs (e.g. 3K, Pre-K, District 75 programs, G&T, ASD Nest and Horizon programs, etc.);
- Expansion of existing schools or programs in the building;
- Enrollment changes, including re-zoning schools to address community needs, such as overcrowding and integration; and
- Temporary or permanent co-location of new or re-sited schools.

To support these efforts, the NYCDOE publishes a list of under-utilized buildings identified by applying consistent criteria to all school buildings across the city. Inclusion on this list recognizes that a building will potentially have excess space that could be utilized more efficiently. However, it is important to note that inclusion on this list does not imply that the NYCDOE will propose a change in building utilization. Any proposed change would be preceded by an analysis of available space by the Office of District Planning and Office of Space Management, as well as extensive community engagement, including the public review process governed by Chancellor's Regulation A-190 where applicable. It is important to note that there are buildings that meet the criteria for inclusion on this list that the NYCDOE does not believe would be suitable for the co-location of additional programs or schools, although the under-utilized space in these buildings may be suitable for other uses.

Buildings with a projected excess of at least 150 seats are deemed under-utilized for the purposes of this list. The list of buildings determined to be under-utilized is subject to amendment based upon further analysis.

Based on the current methodology described below, the NYCDOE has classified 419 buildings as under-utilized. This includes:

- 231 buildings under-utilized by at least 300 seats
- 188 buildings under-utilized by at least 150 seats but no more than 299 seats.

The number of excess seats in each building is based on capacity from the revised 2019-2020 Enrollment, Capacity and Utilization Report, also known as the Blue Book, and enrollment from the 2020-2021 Audited Register, adjusting for known changes that took effect within a building in 2020-2021 and 2021-2022 as well as future planned changes that have been approved. These changes include approved proposals resulting in a significant change in school utilization<sup>1</sup>, schools phasing in additional grades, and changes to building capacity through new additions or building removal. Of the 419 buildings on this list, there are planned changes in 32 of these buildings in the 2022-2023 school year or beyond, and these buildings have been flagged as such. Buildings have been removed from the list if the projected number of available seats is less than 150 due to a change in the building's usage.

While this list serves as an initial assessment of excess space across the city, any planned use of this space would be further assessed based on a number of factors, including but not limited to:

- The amount of classroom space available upon a closer, in-person evaluation of the building and current programming;
- The needs of the district;
- Collaboration with and feedback from Community Education Councils, School Leadership Teams, and the broader community.

Pursuant to the Education Law, any proposed significant change in school utilization (such as re-siting, co-location, grade expansion or truncation, merger, or closure) will be subject to public notice and public hearing requirements, and must be approved by the Panel for Educational Policy prior to implementation. Any proposed changes to existing zone lines, which may lead to enrollment changes, must be approved by the Community Education Council in accordance with Chancellor's Regulation A-185.

<sup>1</sup> Includes proposals resulting in a significant change in school utilization approved by the Panel for Educational Policy (PEP) through April 2022. These changes include a school moving in or out, expanding, truncating, or merging with another school.
